Message from the Chief Executive

Department of Human Services

The Department of Human Services (DHS) brings together a range of services, funding and policy responsibilities, which together support fairness, opportunity and choice for all South Australians. We are uniquely positioned in the public sector to pave the way to reducing the barriers faced by people living with disability and creating a more inclusive South Australia.

Building on South Australia's first State Disability Inclusion Plan – Inclusive SA 2019-2023, all State authorities were tasked with developing their own Disability Access and Inclusion Plan (DAIP). DAIPs are to align with Inclusive SA's key priority areas, and State authorities are required to report against the implementation of their DAIP actions annually. The DHS DAIP outlines the actions that will be progressed by the department over the next four years to reduce the barriers faced by people living with disability. For this reason, I am pleased to deliver the DHS Disability Access and Inclusion Plan 2020-2024.

DHS has undertaken significant community consultation in the development of our DAIP, providing a greater role for people living with disability in leading and contributing to government decision-making.

DHS is committed to continuing to support active participation in consultation and engagement activities that bring about meaningful change.

We recognise there is still a lot of work ahead of us and achieving our vision for an accessible and inclusive South Australia will take time. The priority areas outlined in our DHS DAIP will continue to evolve as the needs of people living with disability evolve.

We can only achieve our vision by acknowledging and respecting the crucial role people living with disability play in shaping our community. I look forward to continuing our efforts to promote positive action.

About the Department of Human Services

DHS brings together a range of services and policies designed to support vulnerable people and to help build resilient communities. We have lead responsibility, on behalf of the South Australian Government, in the areas of disability, early intervention to support health, safety and wellbeing of children, youth justice, domestic violence intervention and screening services. DHS has lead policy responsibility in relation to women, youth, problem gambling and volunteers.

The department provides over $3 million in grants annually to community organisations to improve community participation, wellbeing and quality of life for South Australians, particularly those who are experiencing disadvantage. DHS also delivers a range of concessions and services to eligible South Australians and provides interpreting and translating services.

Our aim is to empower the South Australian community by providing a range of services and funding, and to lead policy reform that supports fairness, opportunity and choice.

Our vision

Our vision is fairness, opportunity and choice for all South Australians.

Our purpose is to deliver strategies, programs and services that improve the wellbeing and safety of South Australians.

Our strategic goals are:

- Better services and programs that make a lasting difference for individuals, families and communities.
- A customer-focused organisation that puts people first.
- Accountable, efficient, open and collaborative government.
- A motivated, skilled, safe and inclusive workforce.

Our staff

DHS is committed to increasing workforce diversity and providing greater employment opportunities for people with disability. As at September 2020, 4.2% (133 employees) of the DHS workforce identify as having a disability, of whom 80% are in ongoing contracts. The average age of employees with disability is 47 and the average tenure is 11 years.

The DHS Diversity and Inclusion Strategy 2017-2020 outlines four objectives that we as a department have committed to:

1. Increase employment numbers.
2. Foster a sense of belonging and equal opportunity.
3. Increase opportunities for development.
4. Foster inclusive leadership.

We remain focused on working towards eliminating or reducing barriers which prevent full participation at work and providing accessible workplaces and technologies to enable staff with disability to contribute fully.

As a department we are currently updating this strategy to ensure we can harness the knowledge and experience of employees including those who identify as having a disability. Through these avenues, we will continue to explore actions to promote engagement and lead innovation in diverse employment practices.

On a practical level DHS has a dedicated space on the intranet with easy to access information. The department has made it mandatory for all employees to undertake disability awareness and inclusion training within the first three months of employment. We also offer broader training opportunities including Mental Health First Aid to ensure all DHS employees are well informed and contribute to a culture of inclusiveness.

DHS was the first South Australian Government department to introduce paid disability leave for our employees, which offers additional leave options should they need to take time away from the workforce due to the nature of their disability.

Access and inclusion planning: the strategic context

The Disability Inclusion Act 2018 (SA) (Act) supports the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, acknowledging that people living with disability have the same human rights as other members of the community.

The Act also establishes a framework to support a whole of Government approach to improving the inclusion of all South Australians living with disability. To achieve this, the Act requires all State authorities to develop and publish disability access and inclusion plans (DAIPs) which relate to the specific supports and services they provide.

The State Disability Inclusion Plan 2019-2023: Inclusive SA (Inclusive SA) and State authorities' DAIPs will together support South Australia's implementation of the six outcome areas within the National Disability Strategy 2010-2020, which are:

- Inclusive and accessible communities
- Rights protection, justice and legislation
- Economic security
- Personal and community support
- Learning and skills
- Health and wellbeing.

This is a coordinated plan across all levels of government within Australia to improve the lives of people living with disability, their families and carers, and to provide leadership for a community-wide shift in attitudes.

Inclusive SA was published on 31 October 2019 and provides a vision for South Australia that is accessible and inclusive of all the community, and where people living with disability are valued and treated with respect. Inclusive SA has 12 priority areas, set within four themes:

- Inclusive communities for all
- Leadership and collaboration
- Accessible communities
- Learning and employment.

Our DAIP sets out the actions we will take over the next four years to achieve a more inclusive South Australia and aligns closely to the four key themes and priorities in Inclusive SA.

Our commitment to access and inclusion

With lead responsibility for administering the Disability Inclusion Act 2018 (SA) and overseeing the implementation of Inclusive SA, DHS is committed to providing access and inclusion for all South Australians with disability through continuous improvement.

DHS will integrate, where possible, disability access and inclusion planning with work and activity required under other relevant strategies and frameworks (including subsequent iterations of these plans and strategies), including:

- DHS Strategic Plan 2019-22
- DHS Diversity and Inclusion Strategy 2017-2020
- Reconciliation Action Plan 2018-2020
- Accommodation Services Strategic Plan 2019-2020
- SA Youth Action Plan 2020-2022
- Young People Connected, Communities Protected: South Australia's Youth Justice State Plan 2020-2023
- Committed to Safety: A framework to address domestic, family and sexual violence in South Australia
- An Intensive Support System for South Australia's children and families (March 2019), Early Intervention Research Directorate System Reform Strategy.

Disability defined

The Disability Inclusion Act 2018 (SA) defines disability in relation to a person as including long-term physical, psycho-social, intellectual, cognitive, neurological or sensory impairment, or a combination of any of these impairments, which in interaction with various barriers may hinder the person's full and effective participation in society on an equal basis with others.

Consultation

Public consultation on our draft DAIP was open from 20 July to 4 September 2020. Approximately 175 individuals and organisations engaged in the process and provided feedback.

During the consultation period, the DHS website hosted a dedicated webpage for our draft DAIP which included:

- the draft DAIP in accessible formats, eg HTML and easy read
- information about the various feedback options including written submission, survey, telephone or face to face meetings
- an online survey and an easy read survey
- printable formats.

The public consultation was promoted a number of ways including:

- DHS social media through Facebook, Instagram and Twitter
- newsletter emailed to Accommodation Services' clients, families and carers
- DHS news article
- DHS Chief Executive newsletter to the non-government sector
- web banners and email signature graphic blocks
- via the Disability Engagement Group
- promotion on the YourSAy website.

DHS also contacted several organisations and community groups to promote the public consultation period through their existing networks to reach a broader audience.

Feedback on the draft DAIP was collected in a variety of ways, including online survey, easy read survey, email submissions and phone calls from members of the public and detailed written submissions and emails from the disability and community sector. All feedback was collated and analysed to identify common themes, priorities and gaps.

Most responses received from the public consultation have been included in our final DAIP. Furthermore, some feedback will be incorporated and built into the everyday work of the department, rather than a DAIP action, as further investigation is required to inform the next iteration.
