

Changes to disability services in South Australia

Easy Read

Government of South Australia

Department for Communities and Social Inclusion

This page has been left blank

Changes to disability services in South Australia

Government of South Australia

Department for Communities and Social Inclusion

This paper is about disability services run by the Government.

Some changes are coming.

The changes will not happen right now.

They will happen in a year or two.

You will still get the same support.

The National Disability Insurance Scheme

The National Disability Insurance Scheme is also called the NDIS.

The NDIS is a way to help people under 65 with disability get care and support.

The NDIS means people get good support.

The NDIS means people have more choices about support.

Changes

The Government is working with the NDIS in South Australia.

The NDIS helps many South Australian children with disability now.

The NDIS will help many South Australian adults with disability soon.

The Government and the NDIS want to go slowly. They want to get things right.

The Government will tell you about changes to disability services.

You will get letters.

You can go to meetings.

The Government will ask you what you like about your support.

More information

You can talk to the Government about changes to disability services.

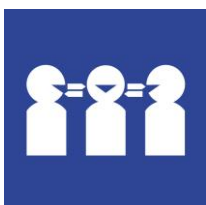

Phone 1800 952 962
(Monday to Friday, 8.00 am to 6.00 pm)

Email dcsifuturedirection@sa.gov.au

Go to the website www.dcsi.sa.gov.au/futuredirection

If you do not speak English, we can get an interpreter to help us talk with you.

This document was made by the Government of South Australia using Photosymbols, stock photography and custom images.

You cannot use any of the images without permission.

We can supply this document in other formats and other languages.
Phone 8413 8177

Version: March 2017

Licensed under Creative Commons <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nd/3.0>

Attribute to: The Department for Communities and Social Inclusion, Government of South Australia